GUNMEN IN BELFAST FOR HOURS HOLD CITY CENTER

Later Advance Into Open Firing Volleys Down Royal Avenue

14 DEAD; 100 HURT

People Are Panic-stricken And Business Has To Be Suspended

QUIET IS RESTORED
(Reuter's Service)

LONDON, September 1.—There was a fresh outburst of firing in several districts in Belfast late last evening. Troops were called out and fired with salutary effect and quiet was generally restored.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Aug. 31.—Street firing at Belfast reached a most intense pitch yesterday evening. Isolated sniping attacks developed into exchanges of volleys between the combatants. The tramways had to stop running.

Later on armed bands suddenly rushed out of side streets and blazed away as they made towards the center of the city, causing a stampede for safety.

Ambulances were kept very busy, and doctors were to be seen dressing wounds in the streets with bullets flying about. Many non-combatants were victims, including a five-year-old girl.

Later.—The street battle in Belfast, which has been proceeding with brief intervals since Monday, culminated today, when the center of the city was held by gunmen for some hours. The trouble started again when the workers were making their way to the shipyards, and in the affray which ensued one man was killed and many wounded. In the course of the morning 30 persons were removed to hospital, four of whom died from their injuries.

Shooting was renewed at noon, when the gunmen advanced boldly into the open, firing indiscriminately and discharging volleys down the principal street, Royal Avenue. There were continuous duels between the police in covered cars and the gunmen. Ambulances and motor-cars were kept very busy in carrying the victims to the hospitals. The people in the center of the city were panic-stricken, and business was suspended.

It is stated tonight that the casualties comprise 14 persons killed and over a hundred wounded since Monday.

In response to the Lord Mayor's appeal for additional protection, the military took charges of the situation in the afternoon.

PHILIPPINE BANK FILES DEMURRER IN FLEMING CASE

Motion Is Also Made Asking That Answer Be Stricken From Records

Following the recent suit in the United States Court for China of the Philippine National Bank for damages in the sum of Tls. 600,000 against Mr. William S. Fleming of the firm of Fleming, Davies and Bryan and Mr. Fleming's counter-suit asking damages in the sum of Tls. 650,000 the bank has filed a motion and in connection with it a demurrer to Mr. Fleming's answer.

The motion, drawn by Ross and Lawrence, attorneys for the bank, asks that Mr. Fleming's answer and counter-claim be stricken from the records of the case. It is contended that the answer and counter-claim are vague, uncertain, indefinite and unintelligible and that statements of alleged facts are so intermingled with argument and conclusions of law that it is impossible for the plaintiff to reply or prepare for trial.

The demurrer to Mr. Fleming's counter-claim for Tls. 650,000 alleges that the facts set forth in the counter-claim are not sufficient to constitute a defense or a counter-claim.

In the absence of the Judge of the United States Court for China no action can be taken on the motion or the demurrer.

MARCH OF EVENTS

BY BRUCE HOPPER

WILL Russia have a voice at the Pacific conference table next November?

No official answer has been made to that question, and yet the time is drawing near. No one denies Russia's right to audience in any discussion pertaining to Pacific affairs. The Russian pioneers of the 17th century, builders of Empire, were the first Europeans to claim extensive hold on the shores of the Far East. The coming feast of many reasons and diplomatic flow of many souls certainly would be incomplete without some measure of audience to Russia.

THE Far Eastern Republic at Chita has not been invited to the Washington conference for the simple reason there is no diplomatic avenue of approach. With the Soviet government the United States had had no omcial conversation, until Secretary Hughes broke the spell of silence recently by his summary demand for the release of American prisoners before the famine relief work would be allowed to go forward.

Great Britain managed to conclude a commercial treaty without diplomatic recognition of the Soviet government. Secretary Hughes would give proof of sound statesmanship if he could devise some means of bringing the Russian voice into the Pacific conference without committing the United States to a policy for which she is not yet prepared.

Most of China's past external troubles have been due to the policy of the great powers of ignoring Chinese opinion in settling Chinese affairs. Tchicherin, People's Commissar for Foreign Affairs, has protested to the Chinese Minister of Foreign Affairs against the exclusion of Russia, and takes that means of warning the powers that the Soviet government refuses to be bound by decisions reached at the conference unless Russia is invited. And the Soviets are well within their rights, as far as Siberian waters are concerned.

AMERICAN policy toward Siberia has been a consistent opposition to all moves which threatened to detract from Russian sovereignty, or take advantage of the internal trouble to further foreign aggression. American and British troops were withdrawn from Siberia as soon as their mission to relieve the Czecho-Slovaks was accomplished. Recent reversal of policies, such as guaranteed rights of private ownership and enterprise, rights of the peasants to sell their surplus products, and invitations to capitalists to exploit their natural resources, indicate a desire on the part of the Soviets to remove the obstacles to their official recognition.

If the United States government intends to withhold recognition of the Chita government indefinitely some arrangement should be made by which Siberian delegates could be utilised as accessible sources of information by the national representatives privileged to confer. It is recalled that unofficial Korean delegates were given audience privately at the Paris conference. Enough propaganda and falsified second-hand news has come out of Russia. It is time the representatives of a government of three years standing be allowed to speak for themselves before a world conference.

SKELETONS from the closet of the Paris peace table talk will probably be multiple at the Washington conference, but none so sure of clogging the machinery as the race equality issue which the Japanese delegates found so effective in inforcing their view regarding Shantung.

It now appears, from Japanese press comments, that China is to be used as the stalking horse to introduce the race equality idea. If, by some miracle, the demands were granted Japan would be an embarrassed little country. Her immigration laws against Chinese labor are just as drastic as those of the United States, Canada and Australia. Nor are her laws less stringent regarding alien ownership of land.

Immigration laws exist because of economic competition, a struggle which the Japanese win against white labor in America, and which the Chinese win even more easily against the

After Two Years Of Drought Shantung Is Facing Famine As Huang Ho Bursts Dykes

Hundreds Die And Many Villages Swept Away By Floods; Population Fears That Yellow River Will Change Its Course

BY J. E. DOYLE

Shantung faces famine for the third successive year. For two years the crops have been destroyed by drought. Now rain and floods are bringing death and devastation. The population is terror stricken for the people fear that the Yellow River, swollen by unprecedented rainfall, will change its course and they dare not build anew the cities and villages that have been washed away.

It is impossible to recount the toll of death. Only scattered details are brought to Tsingtao, Tsinanfu or some other center by commercial men and missionaries returning from trips over their districts made mostly by boat where they used ponies before. At Litsinghsien, not far from the mouth of the Yellow River, 260 villages have been literally swept away and the number of deaths has been enormous. Graphic stories are told of bodies floating over territory which a year ago was barren.

RIVER DYKES BURST

It is known that the Yellow River has burst through its dykes in at least twelve places and that it has overflown its banks in hundreds of others. Chinese tradition proclaims that the River of Sorrows must change its course every sixty years and from southwest Shantung where the Huang Ho enters the province most celebrated in Chinese history to the northeast, where it flows into the Gulf of Chihli, the people are in constant dread. For sixty-two years have passed since the Yellow River swerved from the channel to which it reverted, the same it occupied over 1400 years ago.

Most of Shantung is level—the word means "East of the Hills—" and little of its territory and few of its people will be immune from the suffering.

On either side of the Yellow River, along the Grand Canal and tributary streams, in the interior where relief measures are practically impossible, the floods are being felt the worst but even along the Shantung Railway and from the windows of the trains on the Tientsin-Pukow line, one can see farmers, up to their waists in water, attempting to harvest some sort of a crop.

For miles at a time the traveler sees nothing but water as far as the eye can reach. A year ago these areas were scorched by a cruel sun. A few months ago they were prosperous fields of wheat, millet or kaoliang.

The heavy rains beat down the stocks and now the population is attempting to snatch what it can, cutting down what is left of the once waving fields and collecting in tubs and pans that which remains. The farmers go about their harvesting in many places with the aid of boats. In others there is no harvest, no villages remain and the people who could, have made their escape from the floods to higher places with as much of their world's goods as they could take with them.

There is a grim lesson in Shantung's third successive famine. Foreigners, disgusted by the methods of handling money and food destined for famine relief, are tardy about taking measures to remedy the present distress and the Chinese are disheartened.

Vivid tales of intense suffering were told me by missionaries who had reports from the far interior and these tales of misery were invariably accompanied by a note of despair.

"Preying officials will not spend $500 to repair the dikes of the River of Sorrows and year after year they exact untold squeeze from an oppressed people," said one. "We now expect that nominal sums will be given by these officials for famine relief," it added.

U.S. WILL GO IT ALONE IN GIVING AID TO STARVING

Representative Says He Cannot Submit To Int'l. Committee

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Aug. 31.—The International Commission for the Relief of the Russian Famine has decided to send a sub-commission to Russia to ascertain the needs of the population, to consist of one representative each from France, Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, Japan and the United States. A second sub-commission will be appointed to co-ordinate voluntary relief efforts.

Mr. Brown, the representative of the United States on the Commission, has announced his inability to submit to a central Allied authority like the Commission. He stated that he would only co-operate in the famine area itself, while reserving liberty of action in the administration of relief.

APPEAL OF SIBERIA
(Rosta News Agency)

Chita, August 25.—The Central Far Eastern Committee of Public Organisations for Famine Relief in Soviet Russia has issued the following appeal to the people and public organisations of China, Japan, America and other countries in the Far East as well as the overseas Russian citizens:

"From the Volga River comes terrible news saying that the drought has completely ruined the crops in the most fertile provinces of Soviet Russia. Over 20,000,000 people are starving, and thousands are perishing from hunger and disease.

In the face of this calamity which has overwhelmed our country, all classes of the population and political parties of the Russian Far East have organised a United Central Far Eastern Famine Relief body in whose name we appeal to you.

UNGERN AND STAFF TAKEN PRISONER BY BOLSHEVIKI

Soldiers Revolt Under The Barbarous General Resuhin Who Dies

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, August 26.—Baron Ungern and twenty men of his staff have been taken prisoner by the soldiers of the Far Eastern Republic while fighting near Vankuren. He was taken to the headquarters of the Far Eastern Republic forces for examination where he willingly answered all questions and said that his game was lost.

The Chief of Staff of the People's Revolutionary Army declares that the Ungern deserters, exhausted by long hikes and incessant pursuit of the Red army could no longer endure their cruel treatment at the hands of their commanders in the wild mountainous country, and under these inconceivably hard conditions they revolted at the crossing of river Egingol on the night of August 16, having killed the commander of their division, General Resuhin.

From the same sources it is learned that a riot took place in the column led personally by Ungern, the entire fourth regiment of his detachment having deserted the rest of the bandits. The reconnoitering units of the People's Revolutionary Army which were operating in the mentioned Egingol direction confirm the reports that there was a violent clash between the Ungernist factions.

The Chinese authorities in the zone of the Chinese Eastern Railway are preventing the followers of Ungern from entering the railway zone. The Chinese Secret Service has arrested several leaders of Ungern's bands and some of the Russian officers at Hailar who have been in communication with Ungern.

Two Days' Soaking Boosts Rain Figures Above Average Here

Anyone inclined to minimise the extent of the moisture precipitated upon this village during the past two days is referred to the official figures. During 48 hours ended yesterday afternoon the fall was three and one-half inches.

One effort of this visitation is to bring the figures for the year thus far to a point some 26 percent in advance of the mean record for the corresponding period in the past, thus making it much meaner. Another effect was materially to lower the temperature. As you may have noticed.

WILL ATTEMPT TO REFLOAT LINERS TODAY

Eight Vessels Will Try To Pull Cordillere And Glaucus Off Bar

Today or tomorrow, when the strong tide is at its highest flow, he big pull will be made to tow he Messageries Maritimes passenger steamer Cordillere and the Blue Funnel liner Glaucus off the Tungsha Spit where they ran aground a week ago Monday.

Three cargo steamers, the Alpenor and Knight Templar of the Blue Funnel line, and the Commandant Mages of the Messageries, the five tenders St. Dominic, Victoria, Vulcan, Fuhle and Alexandra will unite their efforts to pull the stranded steamers to deep water. Captain Corneck of the St. Dominic is directing operations. Mr. J. Johnson, superintendent engineer for Holt and Company in the Far East, has arrived from Hongkong and is assisting on the scene.

Shipping interests in Shanghai has centered upon the two vessels since they struck the bar. The Glaucus has been lightered of most of her cargo but the heavy listing of the Cordillere with each ebb tide has prevented like transfer. Efforts to pull them into deep water have failed owing to the shallowness of the water. The Glaucus was moved about 35 feet but the cables broke, leaving her in a slightly better position.

STRONG TIDE TODAY

The strong tide sets in today, and reaches its maximum height Sunday morning about one o'clock. The hopes of the ship owners is that the tide will be high enough to float the ships with the assistance given by the eight towing vessels. Reports at the Harbor Master's office show that a depth of 35 feet, two inches, is expected at Woosung tomorrow. The range of the strong tide is estimated to be 13 feet, which is five more than the average range for the past two weeks.

Various elements affect the height of the tide. At Woosung, August 31, a depth of 33 feet, eleven inches, was expected. But the northerly wind caused the water to rise to 34 feet, six inches. Tungsha Spit is more exposed to the sea, and therefore the variations of the tide due to wind and weather are aggravated. The rains of the past few days are increasing the volume of water in Yangtsze. With a favorable northerly wind, and the full flow of the strong tide, the two ships should be pulled off the bar before Sunday. It is a matter of inches of tide height, however. The Glaucus will probably come off easily but the Cordillere has her cargo aboard, and is more firmly embedded. If she is not pulled off with this strong tide she will have to remain on the bar until the next, in two weeks time.

Just Think How Funny We Appear To Chinese!

By Elsie McCormick

THE foreigner who visits China usually wears two or three fountain pens down to the quick in his effort to tell the folks back home what he thinks of the quaint customs of the Chinese. He describes wedding-processions, left-handed monkey-wrenches, a funeral cortege, flat-irons with fires inside and a chimney at the top, and foreshortened feet with all the vividness that his ink-well will permit, never dreaming, however, that young Mr. Wu from Szechuen is likewise writing back his first impressions of Shanghai in a style that should make foreign ears burn from the Bund to farthest Hongkew.

He who comes to the Far East, permeated with the idea that the Chinese fall back in awe before the superior wisdom of the foreigner discovers rather early that his servants consider him to have almost but not quite enough sense to come in out of the rain. He learns by various indirect means that his willing little helpers, if they knew anything about the Binet test, would put his mental age down as four years, and that being a hero to a valet is no trick at all beside appearing as even a high grade moron to a Chinese houseboy.

To each missionary meeting at home, when the playful ecentricities of the Chinese are described to the accompaniment of tea and cake, an organ solo, and a collection, there are fully a hundred tea-shop meetings in China during which the foreigner is roasted to a turn, prodded with a fork, and deluged with mint sauce. The tea-shop habitues, especially in the interior, comment at length on the awkward way in which the strange, white-faced creatures handle the kitchen utensils with which they eat, their extreme ignorance as displayed by their inability to speak Chinese, and their fondness for sweet potatoes, which is mere coolie chow, contrasted with their failure to appreciate thirty-year eggs.

Foreign visitors to Chinese yamens and private homes usually break as many rules of etiquette as an I.W.W. Convention at a White House tea-party. The person who would prefer being hanged to the chandelier or buried in a vat of cold cream to drinking out of a saucer jauntily calls on a Chinese family and proves to be as much of a parlor ornament as a household pet with muddy paws and a friendly disposition.

In the first place, the host indicates the place of honor to him and instead of protesting his unworthiness, he sits down at once, as at home as a poached egg on a piece of toast. Then, when tea is served, he makes the further faux pas of drinking it immediately instead of sipping it at the end of the visit to indicate his departure. Later he allows his host to accompany him to the outer gate, when the merest coolie knows that he should protest every inch of the way and attempt to hold him back at each courtyard entrance. Sometimes he makes the crowning error—in conservative Chinese eyes—of crudely shaking hands instead of bowing like a gentleman.

When the foreign guest goes home at last, blandly unconscious of any social irregularity, the family holds a post mortem over his manners that classes him with the wheelbarrow coolie. We don't know just what they say, but the foreign equivalent would be something like this: "Good heavens, Gortie, did you notice the way he just plunked down in the best chair without even a 'by your leave'? And did you see how he dived into the cream puffs? Say, I almost offered to lend him a bathing-cap. And did you get on to the way he slapped pa on the back when he started to go? I thought he'd knock out his false teeth. I don't know where George meets such people but when he finds another, I do hope he entertains him down at the cafeteria. Just suppose company had come in!"

In Japan, one of the Number One social errors is to enter a house garbed in a coat or a fur, or carrying a walking-stick. Wearing outer garments in a private home is considered quite as ill-bred as wearing a hat in a foreign house.

European standards of beauty make an even smaller impression than foreign manners. A girl traveling in Chihli heard a Chinese woman exclaim sympathetically, "Poor thing! She has blue eyes. What a pity she can't see!" And another maiden with reddish gold hair caught the remark, "Of course her hair must be dyed. But why in the world did she pick out such a funny color?"

Nor does the foreigner even get the credit for being progressive. "They've been coming here for more than a hundred years and they haven't learned to dress like us yet," said one Chinese to another in the hearing of a missionary. "Our clothes are lots more convenient and economical, but the foreigners never seem to learn anything. The trouble with them is that they are too conservative."

The person who believes that the superiority of European civilization is evident to the world should take a census of Chinese opinion on the subject of jazz.

PEOPLE WILL HOLD POWER OF VETO AT CONFERENCE

Tsao Kun's Delegate Is Conferring With Wu As To The Details

PLAN TWO BODIES

Military Subservient To Populace In Solving China's Problem

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Hankow, Aug. 31.—Tsao Kun's representative, Chang Shao-tseng, who drafted the plans for the proposed national convention at Kuling, has gone to Yochow to confer further with General Wu Pei-fu.

The convention, according to the scheme outlined, will involve two distinct sessions, one a conference of people's representatives elected by the various provinces and one a conference of representatives of the military and navy. The former is to have the power of veto over the latter's resolutions, which will be proclaimed in the name of the people's convention.

It is proposed to have the China delegation to the Washington Disarmament Conference chosen by the people's convention and it is hoped that this convention may be called into action before the Pacific Conference gets under way as soon as a majority of the provinces indicate intention to send representatives. The circular of invitation has been already sent out.

SCHURMAN ENTERTAINED

Hankow, August 31.—Tuchun Hsiao Yao-nan has not yet returned from Yochow, whither he went, together with the Civil Governor, to confer with General Wu Pei-fu as to the formulation of peace terms. Both the Tuchun and General Wu telegraphed their regrets at being unable to attend the yaman banquet given today in honor of Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, new American Minister to Peking.

The Civil Governor, Mr. Liu Tse-nen, presiding at the banquet, expressed the hope that China may find the support of American backing in her endeavors to unite. Dr. Schurman replied that he is intent upon helping China in other ways as well as in his official diplomatic capacity. The Hankow Chamber of Commerce will hold a reception for the American Minister tomorrow.

Latest reports state that Hunan troops have almost completely evacuated Hupeh territory and that some of them are being disarmed.

WU THEIR ENIGMA
(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 26.—A foreign report from Changsha says that Generals Chao Heng-ti and Chiang Tso-ping are both in Changsha and very discouraged with recent reverses. They state that General Wu Pei-fu is an enigma to them, that they are neither working in collusion with Canton nor receiving assistance from it, but that unless something shortly occurs to alter the position they will be forced to make an appeal to Dr. Sun Yat-sen for assistance.

FEELING ANTI-BRITISH

Hankow, August 31.—According to authentic reports, violent anti-British feeling prevails at Changsha, in consequence of the accusation that the British have supported General Wu Pei-fu. H. M. S. Gnat is hastening to Changsha in response to a wireless message, and two foreign gunboats are already there. The warning to foreigners not to return thither are confirmed.

A division and a half of Szechuen troops are advancing on both sides of the river upon Ichang, and fighting is expected to take place within 48 hours.

General Wu Pei-fu has sent an ultimatum to General Chao Heng-ti to meet him tomorrow night. Otherwise he threatens to attack.

CHANG TO AID WU

Peking, August 26.—General Chang Tso-lin has telegraphed to General Tsao Kun expressing satisfaction with the measures being taken by General Wu Pei-fu and saying that he will give all the assistance he can, but denying the reports that he wants to send Fengtien troops to the Yangtze.

STOP FIRE, IS ORDER

Peking, August 26.—In response to the protest from the Japanese

Legation regarding the firing on Japanese steamers between Hankow and Changsha the Central Government has telegraphed to the Tuchun of Hupeh instructing him to take every possible means to prevent further incidents of that nature.

CANTON IS PREPARING

Canton, Aug. 31.—Preparations for the expedition against Hupeh are being actively pushed on, but the details are being kept secret.

HUNAN LEADERS COMING

The Chinese press carries a report that Generals Chang Tso-ping and Kung Keng, leaders of the insurgent forces, have passed through Hankow en route to Shanghai and that General Chao Heng-ti has left Changsha for Yochow to discuss peace terms with General Wu Pei-fu.

200,000 CHEER FOR REPUBLIC IN BERLIN MEETING

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, August 31.—Remarkable discipline was preserved today on the occasion of a demonstration of loyalty to the Republic. Two hundred thousand people assembled in the Lustgarten, which was dotted with red flags.

The confidence of the authorities, who left the maintenance of order to the organisers of the demonstration, proved amply justified. The throng listened to numerous orators without the slightest disturbance.

TO OFFSET DEBT

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, August 31.—The Custodian of Alien Property, Mr. Miller, has recommended that the funds in his possession, which were derived mainly from the seizure during the war of property belonging to Germans, should be used in settlement of the American claims against Germany.

These claims amount to $400,000,000, arising principally through the sinking of the Lusitania and other ships. It is estimated that Mr. Miller holds more than enough to meet these claims. President Harding's attitude towards this proposal is unknown.

Soldiers Thrust Passengers Into Outer Darkness

(Staff Correspondence)

Peking, Aug. 24.—General Chang Tso-lin's interference with the Chinese-Eastern Railway and with taxation and civil administration in Harbin and the Railway Zone is resulting in conditions that grow constantly worse, according to semi-official reports received here today.

Chang's officers and men are making a practice of interfering with the traffic of the Railway and requisitioning locomotives and cars under the slightest pretext with the result that train schedules and the general management of the Railway have been thrown out of gear.

Last week, for example, one of Chang Tso-lin's colonels held up a mail train in the neighborhood of Harbin and requisitioned the locomotive and two first-class cars. The occupants of the latter were turned out despite that it was midnight and most of them were sound asleep; and the Mukden colonel and his men steamed away leaving the mail train without an engine and the dispossessed passengers shivering beside the track.

Yen's Death Brings Many Conflicting Rumors As To Cause

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Aug. 26.—A mandate issued last evening appointed General Feng Yu-hsiang Acting Tuchun of Shensi.

Unofficial reports that have reached Peking confirm the death of General Yen Hsiang-wen, but very little is said regarding the incident. One report says that General Yen was assassinated by a follower of Kuo Chien who was recently summarily executed by order of General Yen. According to further official reports, however, General Yen took a large dose of opium, evidently with the object of committing suicide. Medical assistance, including that of a European doctor, was procured, but all efforts to save his life were unavailing. Order prevails in Sianfu.

Japanese in Formosa and Korea. But the chief bar against the Japanese in America is due to their lack of assimilability. Races greatly inferior to the Japanese are admitted because they are eligible to citizenship. Even Japanese children born on American soil cling to the empire, and worship the emperor as a divinity. Campaigns to Americanise Japanese children in Hawaii have been signal failures. They want to remain Japanese, they are forbidden to intermarry with other races, which decree gives rise to the pernicious picture bride system.

Japan may feel that race equality should be a vital issue at the Pacific conference, but before her sincerity in the demand can be accepted she will have to change a few of her own immigration laws. If the question is to be raised merely for trading purposes in argument, as at Paris, then Japan will be false to the spirit of frankness and above-board diplomacy in which the conference has been called.

7-DAY BATTLE IS VICTORY FOR GREEK FORCES

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, Aug. 31.—The long official silence regarding the operations in Asia Minor has been broken by reports claiming a Greek victory in a seven-day battle in the Sakaria district. The reports also allege that the Turks have given way on the whole of the 36-mile front and that they are retreating to the North-west, with the Greeks closely pursuing.

VON BUELOW IS DEAD; BLAMED FOR WAR FIASCO

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Aug. 31.—The death is announced of Field-Marshal Count von Buelow.

It is recalled that Marshal Von Buelow was one of the German army commanders who marched almost to the suburbs of Paris in August, 1914, and then turned east to the Marne where the great battle was fought. German reports of that tremendous drive are vague on certain points, for it is not known who was responsible for the order to retreat.

Von Molke, the commander-in-chief of the armies, was removed immediately after the Battle of the Marne, and several changes in the high command suggested at the time that the German war office was not entirely satisfied with those who allowed the rich prize of Paris to slip through their fingers.

German Trade War Slackens Despite Greater Activity

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Aug. 31.—Mr. Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, in the course of a statement, says that German competition in the field of foreign trade is showing signs of weakening. The Germans are strenuously active in various parts of the world, but they are having difficulties in handling the orders which they obtain through their attractive price quotations. In particular, he goes on, Germany is finding it impossible to produce goods of pre-war quality.

Mr. Hoover cited a case in Argentina where the Germans had been obliged to surrender large steel contracts, owing to their inability to deliver the goods.

POLAND SITS QUIET

Geneva, August 31.—Poland has despatched a message to the President of the Council of the League of Nations, renouncing her intention of taking advantage in the present case of the Covenant provisions which permit a member of the League to be represented on the Council when matters affecting such member's interests are being discussed.

Wedding

McNICOL-McCOLL

Yesterday afternoon at the British Consulate Miss Annie Tweedie Alexander McColl, daughter of Mr. D. McColl, general manager of the Shanghai Electric Construction Company, was married to Mr. Robert James McNicol, of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Company's mills department. The consular ceremony was conducted by Sir Everard Fraser, after which the Rev. M. T. Stauffer officiated at the church ceremony, held in Union Church.

The bride wore a dress of white French brocaded taffeta, with chantilly lace draped down the sides and inserted in the front, orange blossoms encircling the waist and trailing down one side. Her veil was of silk net and chantilly lace wreathed with orange blossoms and her train, of the same material as the dress, was lined with pleated ninon, with a lovers' knot of tulle and orange blossoms at one corner. She carried white roses and carnations.

The bridesmaids, Misses Ina McColl and Vera Froberg, wore dresses of pink taffeta and picture hats of pink silk net trimmed with roses, and carried boquets of pink carnations and roses.

Mrs. Marshall was matron of honor. Her dress was of blue figured satin with hat to match.

Master John Marshall acted as page, in Scottish costume, Mr. H. Lindsay Molyneaux acted as best man and the ushers were Messrs. C. A. Buyers, A. A. Ewing and J. P. B. Eastwood.

The church was prettily decorated with flowers and bamboo and was filled with the friends of the bride and groom. Big Victory Gained By Oil Men In Courts Of Mexico

(Reuter's Service)

Mexico City, August 31.—The Supreme Court has enjoined the Department of Commerce from renouncing the rights of the Texas Oil Company to oil-lands which it held prior to May 1, 1917. It is believed that this decision sets a precedent, covering over 150 cases which raise the question of Article 27 of the Mexican Constitution.

The Texas Company pleaded that Government action under Article 27 would violate Article 14, which stipulates that no law shall be made retrospective.

Philippine Bank To Close Branch

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, Sept. 1.—The Shanghai branch of the Philippine National Bank is to be closed, according to an announcement by the manager, Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Guillermo Martinez, the secretary of the National Bank, has been forced to resign, following upon the disclosure of irregularities, Mr. Wilson added.

The Shanghai branch of the Philippine National Bank will close its doors as a bank on September 30, but will continue in legitimate banking business as an agency of the parent bank at Manila, according to a statement by the manager yesterday.

For the immediate future, after the closing of the bank's doors at the end of the month, the new agency will conduct its business in the same building at No. 1 The Bund, but in other rooms. Later other quarters will be found.

The official staff of the new agency will for the time being remain as it is composed now, with Mr. Manuel Concepcion, son of General Venancio Concepcion, former president of the bank, continuing in charge as agent, until the Manila Board of Directors appoints his successor. The office staff of the agency will be approximately 50 percent smaller than that now employed in the bank.

The Philippine Bank agency here, Mr. Concepcion said yesterday, would conduct general banking business, with operations limited to legitimate banking transactions. It is expected that the plan of operation will be to handle all business by telegraph through the Manila Bank.

Mr. Concepcion confirmed also the resignation of Mr. Martinez as secretary of the National Bank. He had received telegraphic advices stating that bare fact, but could say nothing as to the cause of the resignation, nor as to who might relieve him. Mr. Martinez' assistant, Mr. Zafra, is at present filling the secretaryship.

The Shanghai Branch of the Philippine National Bank was opened in March, 1918 under the management of Mr. F. W. Riley. In July, 1919, when Mr. Riley went over to the Park Union Bank, the managership was taken over by Mr. J. W. Miller, who retained the office until the beginning of the difficulties which the bank recently encountered. Mr. Concepcion has been in charge of the branch's affairs for the last few months.

POLICE FORFEIT WATER POLO MATCH TO ROWING CLUB; THEY FAIL TO APPEAR, SO LOSE

Program Announced For Gala Nights Of S.I.S.C. Next Week

Well, well—what's happened to the Police swimmers anyway—likewise at all, at all? Last night a team of the Rowing Club mermen traveled all the sinuous way along North Szechuen Road Extension to the Municipal bath, only to find that their prospective hosts and opponents were "non est."

How it happened nobody knew: some members of the force were there, peacefully enjoying the delights of mixed bathing and some were even taking the more strenuous exercise of throwing the polo ball about, but preparations for the match between the Police and the Rowing Club, the last on the 1921 schedule of the Shanghai Water Polo League, there were none: so the oarsmen wended their weary ways back home again.

Thus the Police have scratched both of their scheduled matches against the Rowing Club, and the net result of the league series of games is that the Rowing Club again come out victors, with an unbeaten record.

The VII who attended last night to represent the S.R.C. were: T. W. R. Wilson; J. Krygsman and L. Goldman; R. W. MacCabe; J. B. Brown, A. P. Goldman and E. A. Brodie.

THEY WERE INTERPORTERS

This is likely to be the team that will sport the Rowing Club colors in the match against the International Swimming Club tomorrow week, as Wallin has retired for the rest of the local season. It is hoped, however, that he will be prevailed upon to make the trip down to Hongkong in the interests of Shanghai, as a body of swimmers, apart from any club affiliations, for without him the chances of the visitors against the Crown Colony VII look dark indeed.

The following is the official program of the Shanghai International Swimming Club Annual Gala and Aquatic Sports to be held on the 9th and 10th inst., commencing each evening at 9 p.m. sharp:

FRIDAY

1 length Griffins' Handicap.
100 yards Club Championship.

440 yards championship of Shanghai.
2 lengths Ladies Sweepstake handicap.
Club team race.
Water polo (club teams).

SATURDAY

100 yards championship of Shanghai.
Club diving championship, final stage.
Tub race, final.
Long plunge handicap.
2 lengths Ladies Sweepstake (final).
Throwing the Polo Ball, championship of Shanghai.

Inter-club relay race, Rowing club vs. S.I.S.C. (for the China Weekly challenge cup).
Water Polo, annual match between the Rowing Club and the S.I.S.C.
Entries close tonight at the Municipal Bath.

S.V.C. PUTS CUP SHOOTS ON NEW AND NOVEL BASIS

Commandant's No. 1 Boy Has A Brain Storm During Bray Cup Shoot

Two important innovations will be introduced by the S.V.C. into the competitions for the Overseas and British Cup which are to take place on the 18th inst.

First, teams from each platoon, or corresponding formation, of a unit must compete, and the average of marks gained will determine the result.

Secondly, a real test of fire control will be introduced. Each team, as in former years, will fire at a visible bull with sights adjusted to the range previously estimated by the fire unit commander, but all the team will fire at one target. After each series of single shots by the whole team, a small disc will be shown at the mean point of impact of the team's shots. This disc, and the rectangle in which the bullets should strike if the distance was judged correctly and the aim is correct, will be visible to the fire-unit commander with the aid of field glasses. In fact, the target and mean point of impact of the "strikes" under service conditions will be represented by the rectangle and disc respectively. The fire-unit commander will then have the opportunity of correcting the range, so as to bring the next series of single shots on to the rectangle.

Times of exposure of the target will make allowance for this observation and correction. No member of a team, other than the commander, will be allowed to use field glasses or any other abnormal aid to vision.

The Bray Cup competition last Sunday was favored with excellent weather, and the light remained appreciably the same for all competitors. "B" Company, British, is heartily congratulated on its win. The targets may have seemed unusually conspicuous, but the variations of foreground made the ranges by no means easy to determine. The true ranges of the various targets were 140, 180, 340, 520 and 320, respectively.

An amusing element was introduced by the thoughtfulness of the Commandant's No. 1 Boy who, when a folding card-table was sent for to make the recording work easier for the directing staff, had a brain-wave and sent two packs of cards with the table. Fortunately the ornamental rocks near the O.P. had not been sited with a view to providing seats for a game of cards—otherwise this careful appreciation of the situation on the part of the aforesaid No. 1 Boy might have proved a tempting distraction from the business of the morning.

Scottish Co. Shoot Program

Arrangements have been made for the Scottish Company, S.V.C. to fire its Trained Men's Course during a week-end in November and in order to prepare for this, the monthly cup competitions for the past three months have been based on practices comprising this course. The idea of all firing the T. M. Course at one time is, first, because a competition for a trophy presented by Dr. H. C. Patrick runs through the course and that it would be manifestly unfair if members shot under varying conditions: Secondly, it helps to a keener individual and platoon rivalry: Thirdly, it brings the men together and lastly makes easier the work of recording the returns both for the orderly room and the company.

The next monthly cup will take place on Friday, September 16. The conditions for the competition for the Cup presented by Mr. F. W. Inglis have now been laid down by the Musketry Board. Three practices will have to be taken from the Trained Men's Course and incorporated in the Company's annual rifle meeting held in June of each year. In order to encourage poor shots the competition will be on a handicap basis, as many as twelve points being conceded by A 1 Class to D Class.

HURON TIES WITH SHIP'S MARINES BY A 6-6 SCORE

Weaver Hurls For Marines But Ship Touch Him For 12 Hits

(China Press Correspondence)

Chefoo, Aug. 20.—The Huron Ship's team and Marines tied 6-6 in an exhibition at Weihaiwei yesterday. It was a very ragged game from start to finish, result of Ship's team using substitutes in the outfield and change of pitchers.

Scymanski and Roberts played good ball. Roberts got three hits off Weaver in four times up. Lamke and Knoch got the longest hits. Draper also hit good and Crawford for the Marines got two hits out of three times up. Kirtland and Frank were the main causes of the Marines rally, missing two flys. Watson, the new catcher, looks good and has been added to the team.

British Failure At Sport Is Laid To Clique Rule

BY H. B. MARRIOTT-WATSON,
(English Sport Writer)

London, July 30.—Every one is asking the reason of our failure in sport. We have been consistently beaten in cricket by Australia, and we have lost the polo match to America. The tennis championship has passed away from us, and we have had other disasters.

Perhaps it will be urged, and I think there is something in the plea, that we do not take our sports as seriously as other folk. They have not become a business matter. No one in England would dream of an Oxford and Cambridge competition in which there was anything privy or secret. Yet from an American writer in an American magazine I gather that Yale and Harvard practise in secrecy and that even spies are sent out from one university and the other to try to discover how their rivals are getting on.

TYRANTS

We take sport as a game. Well and good. I am glad of it. But there is probably another reason for our failure, and that lies in the methods of management of our games. Our sports are not democratically governed; they are ruled and controlled by cliques, by small tyrannies. They may be benevolent despots, but they are still despots. I will only mention four instances, though there are more. The M.C.C. has control of our cricket, Hurlingham has control of our polo, St. Andrews (the Royal and Ancient) has control of our golf, and the Jockey Club has control of our racing. All these bodies are not representative, but self-elected and self-sufficing, and imposed on us. If you offend against their rules you are down and out.

You cannot race anywhere if you displease the self-appointed despots of the Jockey Club. You cannot get a cricket team of importance together if the M.C.C. disapproved and if you want any alteration in the game of golf, the Royal and Ancient Club frowns upon you, and you shrink into your shell. Why should this be? In a country which started and promulgated free institutions it is an amazing anomaly. There is no appeal from rules, laws and canons imposed by clubs and societies who elect themselves and in which we have no say. There is a selection committee of the M.C.C., who meet and choose elevens

England's Best Bet

The invading English university students banked on H. B. Stallard as a sure winner of the one mile run. Stallard is capable of running the mile in 4:15, but in his effort in the Oxford-Cambridge vs. Yale-Harvard track and field meet at Harvard Stadium at Cambridge recently he won his mile in 4:20 2-5. He with Rudd of Oxford, who took the quarter-mile, were the only two Britons to win at the meet.

Ned Gourdin, Harvard's star athlete, broke the long standing world's record for the broad jump at the meet when he cleared 25 feet 3 inches. The former record was 24 feet 11¾ inches, established by Patrick O'Connor of England in August, 1901.

The new world's record made by Gourdin, Harvard's colored star, was the banner event of a program filled with surprises.

The Yale runners, Campbell and Douglas, pulled a surprise by defeating two of the Britishers who were counted winners in advance. Campbell beat the great Rudd, Olympic champion, in the half mile, and Douglas, unfigured previously broke the tape ahead of the British star, Seagrove, in the two-mile event.

As was expected, the field events all went to the Americans and the British fell below expectations in the distance runs, where they were regarded as the favorites.

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 31.—The following are the final positions of the leaders in the county championship competition: Middlesex, 78.94 percent (of points obtained to points obtainable); Surrey, 70.43, and Yorkshire, 70.40.

London, August 31.—Glorious weather prevailed today at Brighton, where the Australians opened a match against Sussex in the presence of 7,000 spectators. Despite the fact that the wicket was perfect and fast, the Australians were dismissed in two and three-quarter hours for 209, thanks mainly to the bowling of A. E. Gilligan and Jupp. They were saved from a collapse by Ryder and Taylor, who contributed 40 and 72 respectively. Gilligan's analysis was four wickets for 62 runs and Jupp's four for 41. Sussex had scored 121 for three wickets when stumps were drawn.

The Shanghai Municipal Police and the Machine Gun Co., S.V.C. will play a cricket match on the Cricket Club grounds tomorrow commencing at 1:30 p.m.

ROGERS HORNSBY IS GOING SOME; HITTING AT .418

Will Be First .400 Batter To Lead In Nationals In Generations

New York, July 23.—With the season at the half-way mark, Rogers Hornsby continues to hit the ball at a .418 gait and shows no signs of slowing down. National League men see visions of the first .400 hitter the National League has had in a generation.

The last players to hit over .400 in the National League were Ed Delehanty and Jesse Burkett, the latter now a scout and coach for the Giants. Both "Del" and the "Human Crab," as Burkett was known to fans of 25 years ago, went over the .400 mark in 1899, the last year of the 12-club National League. Delehanty hit .408 for the Phillies and Burkett .402 for the Cardinals. It was Jesse's third .400 average. He is the only major league player who has hit over .400 three times. Cobb went over in 1911 and 1912 and has been trying to tie Burkett's mark ever since.

The foul strike rule went into effect early in the present century and .400 hitters disappeared from the National League, though Cobb, Lajoie Jackson and Sisler went over .400 in the American.

Even if Hornsby doesn't finish over .400, the National League is sure of one .400 hitter. Billy Patterson, the young Giant infielder released recently to Seattle, was listed at an even .400 for 23 games when he was shunted to the distant West. Oddly enough, this boy hit only .201 in the Texas League last year, just one-half of his major league mark.

Chefoo Navy Sporting Notes

The Flagship and Destroyer men staged a Boxing Smoker last Monday at Weihaiwei with bouts arranged between American and British sailors. Six bouts were fought, three of which resulted in knockouts, one in a draw and two went to decisions. The first bout went to the American Byrne by a knockout in one round. The second event went three rounds to a knockout by Schmohl. Koshinski won a decision in his 6-round bout. Johnson drew with his British opponent in four rounds.

The big fight of the card was between the American Larkin, rated as the best man in the Asiatic fleet, and an unnamed British sailor. In the fourth Larkin after having had the best of the going throughout, was knocked through the ropes, and injuring his head in the fall. He did not get back into the ring before the bell rang, so the knockout was charged against him.

The Huron officers beat the officers of the 26th Destroyer flotilla Sunday, August 18, by a score of 7 to 4. Lieut. Hughes pitched for the Huron. He had all kinds of stuff, and 8 strikeouts to his credit.

The Huron team is contemplating a trip to Peking and possibly Tientsin to meet the U.S. Marine guard and the 15th Infantry and possibly the Tientsin civilian nines. The following players will accompany the team:

Horner, Weaver, Roberts, Larkin, King, Scymanski, Lamke, Daugherty, Knoch, Draper, Farrell, Watson, Lieut. J. G. Hughes, and L. A. Norvell, scorer and sporting editor of the ship's weekly.

The Huron batting averages to date include but two .300 hitters: Lamke and Daugherty. The averages follow:

Philadelphia Cricket Team Plays To Draw In England

London, July 29.—The Philadelphia Pilgrims cricket team today played a drawn game with the team of Lord Harris. The Americans were all out for 148, while the Britishers scored 117 for nine wickets. The match was played on the estate of Lord Harris in Kent.

Here's A Player Who Hits The Ball Hard

One of the most unique extra base hit records ever compiled was made by a player named Maloney in the Union Association ten years ago. Maloney was a fizzle as a hitter. His batting average reached only .150 and he made only 17 hits all season. But of these 17 blows 11 were home runs, two were triples and one a double.

which are consistently defeated. No one else dare utter a word. Hurlingham chooses an English team against the Americans, which is handsomely defeated. Luckily St. Andrews does not choose teams, for there are none in golf, but if there were and they did, I know they also would be handsomely defeated. St. Andrews and the Jocky Club make laws of the Medes and Persians, and the Americans and others rebel. But they remain obdurate. We are "it," they say. As a matter of fact they are merely "that," having no authority to represent the games and sports they have usurped.

WHY NOT?

Wouldn't it be as well to make trial of another form of government? After all, we got rid of our absolute monarchs. English folk are very patient under oppression, and take a long time, like a bulldog, to make up their minds, but when they do they are thorough. It is too much to hope that these various institutions will soon be turned into representative associations, and really voice the feeling of the playing and sporting public?

I suppose the Jockey Club is, and will always be, an aristocratic preserve, though I fail to see any reason for it. But then we don't go by reason in England; we go by precedent.

Ghosts Can Now Go Back To Repose For Another 12-Month

Last night saw the culmination of the fete of Ti Ts'ang-wang, the Patron of Departed Spirits, which has been going on for the past two weeks in the Chinese quarters of Shanghai.

The ceremonies consisted of public prayers and burnt offerings of paper money and garments, sampans and furniture of paper in honor of departed souls. Along the river offerings have been made to the ghosts of mariners who lost their lives at sea, and other unfortunates who were not buried with the proper rituals. Ti Ts'ang-wang is particularly concerned with the ghosts of the people who were deprived of the ceremonious burial.

The streets of the native city last night were lined with flickering lights of sacrificial burnings, and the smell of incense filled the air. The wealthier families made impressive sacrifices, at which the poor Chinese gathered as spectators. Ti Ts'ang-wang has several titles, including the "Lord of Hell," "Supreme Judge of the Kingdom of the Dead," and "King of the Interior of the Earth." He is often represented seated on a lion in an attitude of prayer.

NEW TRUST COMPANY

Yesterday morning saw the opening of the Chung Yih Trust Company, with offices at No. 12 The French Bund. The new concern is capitalised at $8,000,000 and preparations for its inauguration have occupied the past four months. It undertakes the functions of a trust company, a bank and an audit bureau. Among other things the new company will prepare balance sheets, formulate plans for organising industrial and commercial concerns, suggest account books, and audit accounts roughly or thoroughly in monthly, quarterly, half yearly or yearly intervals at the option of the customers. The inauguration began and ended with band music and the program included the item of three bows to the flag of the Chinese Republic.

Harbin, August 20.—Mr. Charles A. Daly, the special correspondent of the Chicago Tribune has returned from his trip to Chita via Vladivostok. Mr. Daly studied conditions both in Chita and in the Maritime Province. The impressions of Mr. Daly are that order is prevailing over the entire territory of the Far Eastern Republic with the exception of those districts where the Japanese forces are stationed.

He is of the opinion that the Merkuloff Government and the White Guards at Grodekovo are Japanese tools and as soon as the Japanese troops are withdrawn the authority of Chita will be restored in the Maritime Province.

Mr. Daly has been ordered by his newspaper to proceed to Soviet Russia immediately to assist in organising American relief in the famine stricken districts of Russia. He will leave for Chita shortly and from there proceed to Russia. Mr. Daly was working with the American famine relief in China last year.

HOPE TO BETTER RAILWAY SERVICE IN FLOODED AREA

Next Few Days May See Improvement On Tientsin-Pukow Line

Railway officials here yesterday expressed the hope that within the next three or four days the service on the Tientsin-Pukow line, now crippled by the floods near Pengpu, may be materially improved.

Advices yesterday were to the effect that the flood water was still level with the top of the embankment at Muntaitzu, the first station this side of Pengpu, and that ballast trains only were operating between the two points. The stretch between Pengpu and Kuchen is impossible to traverse. The Traffic Manager of the Shanghai-Nanking Railway yesterday despatched a man to the flood district to investigate and make a report.

The route to Mokanshan is still interrupted by reason of the suspension of the launch service, only native boats being allowed to ply over the waters leading to the hills. The suspension was requested by the Teh Ching Magistrate on account of the protest of the farmers that the wash of the launches threatened to destroy the emergency dyking which they have thrown on top of the embankments to keep the flood from the fields. An attempt was made by countrymen to sink one of the launches on the run a week ago. Officials of the Shanghai-Hangchow-Ningpo railway stated last night that nothing definite could be said about the resumption of the service.

SHIP CAPTAIN IS HEARD IN U-BOAT ATROCITY TRIAL

(Reuter's Service)

London, Aug. 31.—In connection with the trial of German war criminals at Leipzig, the evidence was taken at Bow Street Police Court today of Captain Starkey, master of the British ship Torrington, sunk by the German submarine U55 to the north-west of the Scilly Isles on April 8, 1917, while on a voyage from Gibraltar to Cardiff.

Captain Werner, commander of the submarine, is charged with wilfully murdering 34 of the Torrington's crew by drowning.

Werner has not yet been arrested, but the British and German Government agreed that Captain Starkey's depositions should be taken, so that they might be available in the event of Werner's arrest.

In the course of his evidence, Captain Starkey stated that the Torrington carried one gun wherewith to resist attacks. He and the crew of his lifeboat were taken on board the submarine, whereupon Werner told him that he was a pirate and deserved to be shot. The submarine submerged, and 20 of the Torrington's crew who were on deck were drowned. The remainder of the crew were in the second lifeboat, which had not been heard of, and had presumably been otherwise disposed of.

Danes Get Wire Concession From The Soviet Gov't

(Reuter's Service)

Copenhagen, August 31.—It is believed that the report to the effect that the Soviet has signed an agreement with the Great Northern Telegraph Company, granting the latter a concession to work a telegraph system between Russia, Denmark, Japan and China, is correct.

Under the terms of this agreement, the concessions for lines between Petrograd and Irkutsk and Kiakhta are to be renewed and a new line between Irkutsk and Vladivostok is to be taken over. These lines will be reserved for a trans-Asiatic service at the same rates as those of the British companies, but pending an investigation into the condition of the lines it is impossible to fix a date for the resumption of the service.

U. S. MAY REFUSE

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 31.—Advices from Washington indicate that the pressing application of South China to be admitted to the Disarmament Conference is unlikely to find favor with the American Administration, which is disposed only to recognise the established Government.

Insurance Company Amends Articles

No bankrupt, or person who has suspended payment, or made an assignment for the benefit of the greater part of his creditors; no lunatic, nor any other person not resident of Shanghai and a shareholder of the company, may qualify as a director of the Far Eastern Insurance Co., Ltd., according to the terms of a special resolution passed by holders of 24,200 shares at an extraordinary general meeting held yesterday afternoon.

The resolution was offered by Mr. Edward A. Ezra, chairman of the Board of Directors, seconded by Director H. E. Arnold and was voted for unanimously.

The new resolution amends Article 78 of the company's Articles of Association, which stipulated that prospective directors must hold at least 100 shares of the company stock to qualify for office. No other part of the original Article was changed.

The amending of the old Articles of Association was made desirable by reason of the consolidation of the Yangtsze Insurance Association, Limited, and the Far Eastern Insurance Co., Limited, which is now being effected. The requirement that directors be shareholders, without stipulating any particular number of shares, as contained in the Yangtsze Articles of Association was considered better adapted to the consolidated company.

The new resolution passed yesterday follows in full:

"No person shall be qualified for the office of Director unless he shall be resident at Shanghai and be a Shareholder of the Company, or if he shall become bankrupt or suspend payment or make an assignment for the benefit of or an arrangement with the greater part in number and value of his creditors, or be or have been declared a lunatic, and the office of Director shall be vacated by his incurring any such disqualification as aforesaid during its tenure. But until an entry of the vacating of office is made upon the minutes of the Board of Directors the acts of a disqualified Director shall be valid."

The amendment will be submitted for confirmation at a further Meeting to be held at the Company's Office on Thursday, September 8, 1921, at 4:30 p.m.

THERE IS NO DOUBT that the public taste in
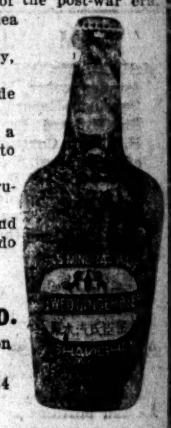
AERATED WATERS
is decidedly on the up-grade. It is a sign of the post-war era.



Everybody nowadays has the quality idea in his head.
The old method of producing a gassy, syrupy liquid is as dead as Queen Anne.
This we have long recognised, and made "quality" our first aim.
We are not satisfied with turning out a good article, but are constantly trying to improve upon it.
Of equal importance is cleanliness, scrupulous to the minutest detail.
These are the two factors on which depend success or failure in this business, and we do not mind letting you into the secret.
We are out for success.

A Word For The Chinese Navy

(Contributed)

In these days of Bolshevism, chaos and militarism with its attendant evils, it is a matter of congratulation that the Chinese Navy, unlike the Army, is hardly, if at all, affected by these disturbing influences, and can be regarded as having maintained the same high standard of discipline as that introduced by Admiral Lang, a British naval officer loaned to the Chinese Government for the purpose of training the Navy.

It is unfortunate that the Chinese Army, maintained at such great expense for the ostensible porpose of keeping order and peace should be affected by these evil influences to such an extent as to rebel against the Central Government, to mutiny on every possible occasion, and to adopt a general attitude of insubordination. The main reason for these discouraging symptoms is that the rank and file of the Army are recruited generally from the undesirable elements of the society.

That a great portion of the forces, now forming part of the Army, is bought over by the Government and persuaded to give up their illegal, though lucrative, practices of looting and pillaging unsuspecting towns or peaceful villages, is common knowledge. That being the case it is not at all surprising that discipline and order can hardly be maintained. Further, illiteracy among the officers and soldiers alike reaches a very high percentage. Few indeed are graduates of Paoting Military Academy or such similar institutions.

Being of the sister service, the Chinese Navy comes in for a share of strong public condemnation levelled at Militarism in China for its high-handed, barbarous and illegal actions. The average person is not to be blamed for venting his displeasure upon the Army and Navy alike, without discrimination, for these acts of depredation and high-handedness, but one may as well give the Devil his dues and hold the different Tuchuns and their henchmen responsible for the present unfavorable conditions in China.

How often has one heard of threatened mutinies and actual mutinies in towns of importance where these unruly soldiers are stationed? It can be stated, without fear of refutation that scarcely a month passes without news of this description. And the sole excuse for this rank insubordination is the Government's inability to pay the soldiers up-to-date. Fortunately the officers and crew of the Navy have not discovered this, the non-payment of salaries for a few months, to be reason enough for breaking into open mutiny.

The extent of damage and destruction a mutinous Navy can do is incalculable. That it can reduce to ashes and ruins any town in a more effective manner than the soldiers, should it forego discipline and subordination and adopt the precedents set forth by the Army, cannot be denied. Bearing this in mind one should appreciate to the full the restraint placed upon it by those directly concerned, and endeavor to discriminate the Navy from the Army when any strong condemnation is made against Militarism.

Few people are aware of the fact that the expense incurred by the Navy is only 1 50 of that of the Army, and that the Government is at present indebted to the Ministry of Navy for the sum of $1,350,000, being arrears of salaries, and yet the Navy is still amenable to discipline and orders, as it should be.

It may appear strange and incongruous that, in view of the high standard of discipline prevailing in the Navy, a portion of it should leave its station for Kwangtung in 1918. This situation is easily explained when one recalls that Admiral Chen Pih-kwang, then Minister of Navy, left Peking armed with orders issued by the Ministry of Navy, of which he was still Minister because the vacancy created by his departure from the Capital was then not yet filled, to the Commander-in-Chief of that portion of the Navy, now incorrectly termed the Southern fleet, instructing him to take the said fleet to Kwangtung. As expected the Navy obeyed the said orders. This action on the part of that fleet could not be regarded as a deliberate act of desertion or secession.

Since its arrival in Canton it has repeatedly intimated its allegiance to the Central Government and its intention of returning to Northern waters, but, unfortunately through force of circumstances it has not been able to put into deeds its profession of allegiance and intention of returning to its former station. It is to be hoped that the actual date of unification of the Northern and the so-called Southern fleets is not far distant, and that the united fleets shall contribute their share in the unification of the independent coast provinces of the South.

The work of the Chinese Navy is carried out so inconspicuously and silently that little is known of the responsible nature of that work. To preserve the sovereign rights and neutrality of the country, to stamp out piracy and irregularities at sea, and to put an end to extensive salt smuggling are a few of the necessary functions of the Navy.

The Chinese Navy in its present state is so small that it is a negligible quantity as a fighting force against the navies of other Powers, so the immediate expansion of the Navy to a size proportionate to the needs of the country is highly imperative. The present Minister of Navy, Admiral Li Ting-hsin, is reported to have stated that the recent European naval war has created the need of giving modern naval education to officers in matters relating to the new war appliances used by the various Powers, instead of prescribing for them the same course as set down in pre-war days.

In view of the fact that the Chinese Navy as a body is so well disciplined and has carried out its various functions so harmoniously, it is not demanding too much to expect the general public and the Government to give the Ministry of Navy all the moral and financial support possible in its effort to further improve and expand the Navy.

The Secret Of Youth

BY BRICE BELDEN, M. D.

If the body is sufficiently exercised enough oxygen will be taken in to neutralise or destroy poisonous wastes, toxins, etc. This means that one so exercising can hardly develop auto-intoxication in any form.

Too little use of the muscles characterises most of our prosperous men of mature years. The same thing is true of women in the thirties. Their very increase of weight, far from being an indication of well-being, is a sign of suboxidation. And the auto-intoxication that appears in such individuals is what determines the setting in of premature old age at forty or therabouts.

Premature old age may actually be regarded as a succumbing to the effects of auto-intoxication, and anything we can do to ward off the latter will help us to keep young.

Of course, to auto-intoxication as a cause of premature old age must be added the infectious diseases, among which is a particularly important factor, namely, chronic absorption of septic matter from apparently healthy teeth and tonsils, or from less easily recognised source.

Infectious disease as a cause of premature old age is being successfully fought today, as witness our present mastery over diphtheria and typhoid fever. There is no reason to doubt that we shall conquer all in time, and then the expectation of life of the individual with be considerably added to.

Perfect health, then, depends largely upon proper use of our tissues, and we are mostly made up of muscle. Therefore exercise is a very vital necessity, for it is in the muscles that those marvellous interchanges take place that spell power, energy and vitality.

The Celebrated Physician Whose Sensible Articles On Health Have Been Followed With National Interest

"One of the Greatest and Most Healthful Delights of a Holiday Is the Luxurious Feeling That We 'Don't Have to Get Up.' The One Rule for Rational and Healthful Enjoyment of Any Holiday Should Be 'Rest First'."

A Holiday is a day on which we work hard trying to rest. We expend as much energy "having a good time" as would earn two ordinary days' wages—and then wonder why we feel tired and cross toward evening!

By legal sanction or special gift of the gods we have a day off, and we proceed to cram three days' enjoyment into it.

We begin wrong by getting up when the whistle blows or even earlier than usual, so as to feel that we have a full day's pleasure ahead of us. Thus we "get out of the bed on the wrong side," because any side of the bed is the wrong one to get out on before 9 o'clock on a holiday.

One of the greatest and most healthful delights of a holiday is the luxurious feeling that we "don't have to get up" until we feel like it. Never let anything deprive you of this priceless right and privilege.

We should imitate the classic example of the old army officer, who after he had retired on half-pay, instructed his orderly to wake him at six o'clock every morning, with the call "Time to dress for parade, sir!" just for the pure pleasure of saying "D——n the parade!" and turning over and going luxuriously to sleep again.

"REST FIRST" THE BEST RULE

But seriously, the one rule for rational and healthful enjoyment of any holiday should be "Rest first." Plan out all that you would like to do and see, and then do about one-third of it. The best and most health-giving pleasure resort in the world, up to ten o'clock in the morning is Bed.

Doctors differ about the number of hours of sleep required, as they do about many other things, but practically all are agreed that it is an excellent thing to restore the balance and make good any shortages by "having your sleep out" at least one morning every week.

Go to bed on the night before your holiday with the deliberate determination to stay there until you feel rested and ready to get up next morning, or even early afternoon.

Then whatever you do or don't do after that, you have made sure of at least half of the best possible out of your holiday. With all due respect, one of the best forms of divince service on Sunday morning for a tired worker or business man is breakfast in bed.

"TAKE THINGS EASY"

There are few greater or more restful pleasures than the luxury of sitting about in your own parlor or on your own porch, or strolling in your garden or back yard, if you have one, luxuriously revelling in the feeling that you have "time to burn," and burning it accordingly.

Let the satisfaction soak in well, the sense that nobody has any strings on you—that you are not obliged to go anywhere or catch any train or keep any appointment.

If we would jealously guard and protect at least half of our Sunday, or other holiday for this kind of "basking," we would reap big dividends in health and comfort.

AFTER REST, THEN PLAY

Of course, like all other pleasures, this dolce far niente, "sweet doing nothing," as the Italians call it, palls and wears off after a time, and then comes the time for active holiday-making.

You will enjoy yourself far more in half a day of active pleasure or sport, after an altogether leisurely and restful morning than in a whole working day of strenuous sight-seeing or amusement.

OPEN AIR ACTIVITY BRIEF

As a matter of simple horse-power, about four or five hours of active pleasure-seeking in the open air is all that the average man or woman can stand, unless they have undergone a special course of training for it.

There are two physical reasons for this: one that most forms of active amusement and pleasure seeking, boating, golfing, games and sports of all kinds, traveling by train or trolley, or even such apparently mild and restful occupations as boat excursions, visiting picture galleries, and listening to open-air concerts (unless you have a comfortable seat), involve a great deal of strain upon groups of muscles which have had little or no exercise during the week.

Standing about, for instance, to look at buildings, or specimens in a museum or pictures in a gallery, is extremely hard muscular work for the muscles of the eyes, neck, back and legs.

The limit of both comfort and appreciative enjoyment of an art gallery, for instance, is about three-quarters of an hour—half an hour is better yet.

Moreover, we drive ourselves desperately hard in the process of enjoyment, and walk a great deal farther and play a great deal harder than we have any idea of at the time.

Is Einstein Only Another Dr. Cook?

What, in plain English, is the Einstein theory of relativity? Asks Prof. Gaynor, British Astronomical expert. He answers his own question as follows:

It is simply the elementary fact that all things in nature are changing their positions or conditions with relation to each other in varying degrees of speed, distance and time, and that nothing holds an absolutely fixed location in space.

The moon revolves round the earth, and the moon and all the other planets of the solar system revolve round the sun. At the same time, however, the sun and the whole solar system have a movement which is apparently a revolution round some other sun, as yet undiscovered—a movement of which astronomers know nothing except that in the present era it is apparently a downward or falling movement, and that the rate of this movement is approximately thirteen miles a second.

These are the facts on which Einstein bases a theory which contradicts all established views.

TWO PIECES OF PROOF

He has adduced only two astronomical phenomena in proof of this theory—certain irregularities in the movement of Mercury and the deflection by the sun of light rays from the stars—the so-called "benuing of light"—observed during a solar eclipse. From these two facts he deduces the following, among other far-fetched conclusions:

Straight lines are not quite straight, and parallel lines meet.

Space is curved, and finite, though boundless.

Newton's law of gravitation is only partly true.

Euclid's geometry is only approximately correct.

Associated with every gravitational field is a system of geometry of its own, and a structure of measuring space peculiar to that field.

Gravitational fields arise in the presence of matter which is accompanied by a special geometry as though it imparted some peculiar kink or twist to space, making Euclidean geometry inapplicable.

Thus, to support an entirely untenable theory, Einstein is forced to make the absurd and wholly unscientific assumption that different regions in space have geometrical laws peculiar to themselves.

EINSTEIN'S "BLUNDER"

The "proof" he adduces from the aberration of the orbit of Mercury can be disposed of in a sentence. He has made the elementary blunder of regarding Mercury as globular instead of spheroidal.

The story of the discovery of Neptune three-quarters of a century ago utterly extinguishes the Einstein theory so far as Mercury is concerned. In 1841 the astronomer Adams, studying the irregularities in the motion of Uranus, deduced the conclusion that they were due to the action of an undiscovered planet beyond it. The French mathematician Leverrier also took up the problem.

Uranus is nearly 1,800,000,000 miles from the sun. Adams and Leverrier, applying Newton's law, which, according to Einstein, is an exploded theory, located the probable position of the unknown planet a thousand million miles still further on in space—and there Dr. Galle, the Berlin astronomer, found it on September 23, 1846.

Thus seventy-five years ago the Newtonian law found a previously unknown planet at a distance of 2,800 millions of miles from the sun, yet Einstein would have us believe that the same law does not hold good with regard to Mercury, which is only 36,000,000 miles from the sun.

Scientists in America, notably Dr. Poor, professor of celestial mechanics at Columbia University, are beginning to believe that they have been hoaxed by Professor Einstein.

German Exhibitors At The Auto Show?

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: In your issue of the 31st. ulto., an article appeared regarding the forthcoming Automobile Show. This article stated that "German exhibitors would be welcomed, etc., etc."

As Chairman of the General Committee of the Motor Show I am requested to advise you that the article in question was incorrect, and that it was written without the authority or knowledge of the committee.

Therefore, lest any false impression be gathered from the article I quote verbatum the resolution passed at the meeting of the General Committee on the 30th ulto.

"Contingent upon the willingness of the French Municipal Council to permit the display of German motor cars and accessories at Verdun Gardens, the Chairman be authorised to notify exhibitors of German or any other nationality that they will be allowed to exhibit if space is found available, of which they will be notified in due course."

If you will give this space in your valued paper you will great oblige, Yours truly,

V. A. DODGE,
Chairman.

Shanghai, Sept. 1, 1921.

BARR'S FLYING CIRCUS

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: Seldom has Shanghai witnessed such a "bloomer" as that which happened at Kiangwan Race Course at Barr's Flying Circus. A large crowd was misled there by believing that there would be a series of brilliant aeronautical performances; while in fact the Flying Circus arrived in Shanghai sans airplanes, sans balloons, sans parachutes, etc., and the only part they played on last Saturday was the so-called auto-polo. Today we get one more truth from Mr. E. E. Fresson that the flight by him on last Saturday had no connection whatsoever with the Barr's Flying Circus. Of course, the local airmen and automobile men can give a much better show if they want than what was going on last Saturday.

The Secretary of the International Recreation Club made it known in the Chinese newspapers yesterday that this Barr's Flying Circus was introduced by friends to the club, and the club granted permission to them to use the race course without any knowledge of what the Barr's Flying Circus could really show. This is a very poor excuse as the Secretary should investigate what is going on at the club's race course before granting any permission.

Usually in any part of the world where performances of this nature take place a medical doctor and an ambulance with the necessary staff are present. In the present case where Mr. H. F. Hu was seriously injured, there was no medical man or ambulance on hand. Whether this was a negligence of the Circus people or the Secretary of the I.R.C. I leave it to the judgment of the public.

I would ask the Committee of the I.R.C. to investigate the matter so that in future such accidents and negligence may be prevented and the lives of the spectators not be endangered, and the good name of the club not tarnish d. Yours faithfully,

SPECTATOR.

"COMMANDER" Stories

A barrister being elevated to the bench, a solicitor who had sent him the day before a brief with a large fee, called upon him and suggested that, as his client was not a rich man, the cheque might be returned.

"I should be very glad," said the newly appointed judge "to do as you suggest, and quite agree that morally you are right, but in justice to my profession and to avoid establishing a precedent I am obliged to decline.

"Ah, my lord," said the solicitor, "we feared you might find yourself in this difficulty, and, to save you any embarrassment, we have stopped the cheque."

Bringing Up Children

BY DR. WM. A. McKEEVER

Does your child explode quickly at the point of emotional response? For example, when angered, does he at once redden in the face and follow that with cries, yells or expletives?

Or, does your child repress his emotions and appear to absorb their force within his own organism? For example, when angered, does he merely bite his lip, gesture, suppress his words partly Spoken and the like.

Whether your child be an explosive or a repressive will have a very important relation to his course of education, his morals and his success in life. The explosive type rapidly acquires initiative, tends to go into excesses and requires constant guidance, but little incentive.

The repressive type is slow to find his course, is easy to manage morally and requires constant incentives to keep him trying our new and necessary types of behavior.

Your explosive child "cries at every little thing," is likely to be called a "baby calf" by the others will quarrel and fight readily, will rush far to the front in the excited mass movement, and tends to be an extremist in everything.

Your repressive child cries little, quarrels very unwillingly, is a poor fighter, being unwilling to inflict pain, does not run quickly from danger, never leads at a game or a mob and will always be found with the conservative wing of the group or party.

Either of these types may reach high distinction, the one because he quickly commands obedience and fear, the other because he commands reverence and honor. Theodore Roosevelt was an explosive, William McKinley was a repressive.

Your explosive child will tend to work out his own salvation. He needs less formal book instruction than the other type, inclines more to resist the school, can afford to quit earlier, but will jump headlong into wrong and dissipation, if not well managed.

Your repressive child will stick closer to his books, needs to stay in school to the very limit, will not be attracted by loose living, and will win his honors more on what he is and what he knows than on what he does.

The explosive will "find a way or make it." He will disdain polished manners and formality, but will ride into favor on bluff and nerve wherever he is short on the other qualifications.

The repressive will need a letter of introduction, a copied list of his school grades, or a nice diploma to present as his credentials, whenever he applies for employment.

Your explosive will keep you on the jump, while you run along at his side and watch him educate himself through the rough-and-ready experiences he chances to meet on the way.

Your repressive will expect you to stay close behind him, to push him when he slows up, to prompt him when he is undecided, to approve him when he makes a creditable showing, to assist him in the choice of a career.

Both of these types of child are genuine specimens of the Lord's own creation. Treat them as such, but never attempt to educate them by the same rules and methods.

TEXACO
TEXACO MOTOR OILS
—SAVE { POWER / THE ENGINE / EXPENSE

There are four grades of Texaco Motor Oil; light, medium, heavy and extra heavy—a grade to suit your every requirement, no matter what kind of car you drive.

Texaco Motor Oil assures maximum power because it holds the "seal" between piston rings and cylinder walls. That is where fuel leakage occurs when the lubricant does not possess body to function properly.

Texaco Motor Oils are composed of the best American Crudes, refined according to most scientific methods, and each tin is tested before it leaves the refinery. Use of it affords free lubrication to all moving parts of the motor, more power, high compression, and less carbon. The little carbon which does remain is never hard and flinty, but soft and fluffy like soot.

Texaco Motor Oil is a quality product, each drop is the same—maximum lubrication value, minimum waste.
